Whether you get unlimited data or set data you can stop the worry at every billing cycle as prices are affordable for all budgets.Low cost: No more expensive bills. With low-cost carriers, you could save up to $600 on your plan.Good coverage: Depending on your location you'll get the nationwide coverage you're used to as MVNOs operate on the same major US networks.No contracts: There's no need to be locked to one network or carrier, with prepaid plans there's no long term commitment.Bring your own device: If you love your MiFi device, you don't have to upgrade your mobile hotspot device, just bring your current one with you.Mifi plan featuresVideo streaming: Get access to nationwide 4G LTE data speeds and 5G coverage where it's available making video streaming and browsing the internet easy.Mobile hotspot: A data only plan lets you connect to the internet with compatible devices when traveling.Buy online: Get your Mifi plan sent directly to your door. Simply pick your plan online and the SIM card is sent to you with easy activation instructions.Best MiFi plan on T-MobileCompare: T-Mobile MiFi plansBest MiFi plan on VerizonCompare: Verizon MiFi plansBest MiFi plan on AT&TCompare: AT&T MiFi plansCheapest MiFi data plansCarrier network coverageSource: RootmetricsCarrier customer serviceMiFi vs tetheringYou may be wondering why you'd want a whole separate device when most modern smartphones have a mobile hotspot feature. The two do have a couple noteworthy differences.MiFi hotspotFeatures a freestanding device that usually runs on your choice of battery or power cordRequires its own data only SIM cardHas its own monthly plan with dedicated data allotmentTetheringMay use your phone plan's dataCan be hard on your phone's battery lifeAvoids the need to carry a separate device with youSwitch to a cheap MiFi planSwitching mobile hotspot plans is simpler than ever. Just follow these easy steps.Pick a plan. Whether you want strong 5G hotspot coverage or need an unlimited data plan there's something to fit everyone. Check out our data usage calculator if you're not sure how much you need.Prepare to make the switch. Make sure your current bill is paid off and that your MiFi is unlocked for use with another carrier.Set up your new plan. If you're going to bring your own device you'll get a data only SIM card in the mail or at a store. Just pop it into your Wi-Fi device and follow the carrier's instructions to activate your plan.Comparing MiFi plansYou'll want to take a few things into consideration aside from pricing when choosing a mobile hotspot plan. This helps ensure that you get the best experience possible out of both your equipment and service.Coverage: All three major networks have extensive nationwide coverage. Still, each one features better signal strength in certain areas. You'll want to check out each network's coverage map before picking a carrier. Be sure to check any areas you travel to as well since the whole point of MiFi is to have internet on the go.Speeds: It's safe to say most of the time your Wi-Fi hotspot will get 4G LTE data. The best MVNO plans include 5G network coverage at no extra charge. That means you'll get 5G hotspot speeds where currently available. Keep in mind you do need a 5G MiFi or other 5G data only device in order to get those speeds.Data allowance: With a smaller carrier you can easily avoid overpaying for data you won't use. Their plans offer data tiers to fit virtually anyone's needs. If you choose an unlimited plan you'll want to read the fine print. Even unlimited data only plans typically include a high speed data cap. Once you reach it your internet service may be slowed to 2G or 3G speeds.Plan and device compatibility: Some plans are designed for smartphones rather than mobile hotspot use. You can check hotspot compatibility with your chosen carrier the same way you check phone compatibility. This is usually done by entering the IMEI (your device's identifying number) into the provider's website.MiFi plans FAQsYou'll find the best value with options like Verizon data only plans from US Mobile and T-Mobile data only plans through Tello.MiFi runs on a cell phone network to create a wireless connection to a device like a tablet or laptop. Some MiFi devices can increase performance, but essentially there's not much difference.RecapNow that data only plans are cheaper than ever there's no need to stick with the major carriers.Choose from a wide variety of mobile hotspot plans that run on the AT&T, T-Mobile and Verizon networks.Switching is easy and you can bring your own MiFi device to your new carrier. Compare data only plans to find the best fit for your data usage and budget.Even better, save money on all your wireless needs by getting your cell phone plan from a cheaper carrier too.CarrierBest for...MinsTextsDataPriceMint MobileBest T-Mobile MiFi plan004GB$15/moUS MobileBest Verizon MiFi plan004GB$15/moRed PocketBest AT&T MiFi plan005GB$25/moUS MobileBest prepaid MiFi plan002GB$10/moMint MobileBest unlimited MiFi plan00Unlimited$30/mo
